

“HAMARA HATH SHIKSHA KE SATH”

Introduction

Khunti district is located 35km from Ranchi capital. Average literacy rate of Khunti is 64.51 percent according to 2011 census. Khunti district is known for its trafficking issues, lack of quality education and poor employment opportunities being some of the reasons behind this problem. The quality of education is major area of concern in this district. Learners' achievement appears to be much below the expected grade specific learning outcome of the students. The reasons for this dire situation is poverty, lack of infrastructure and teachers to provide quality education for the population. Lack of sufficient teachers in government schools and burden of administrative work (election duty, survey etc.) on the existing government teachers are prime reasons for poor education quality.

Project Title:

Volunteer Teaching Program in government schools for improving education quality and understanding of student.

Statement of Problem

Education quality is poor in district due to lack of sufficient teachers, subject specialist teachers, proper teaching methods and poor education environment which leads to dropout of students. Lack of quality education has resulted in poor understanding of opportunities which ultimately leads to human trafficking. Students who complete their higher secondary school are also not competent enough to get admission to good colleges outside the district.

Subjects like Maths, Science and English needs specialist teachers for improving performance in these subjects. Poor learning background in these subjects lead them to few options to choose from Arts subject. They are also unaware of the vast career options in the field they are interested.

Objectives of Project

- 1. Improving education quality in government schools.
- 2. Strengthening communication power of students and their career counselling.

Project Area:

Schools of Khunti district

Project Action Plan:

Under this project volunteer teaching would be initiated where students from B-Schools and engineering colleges would be volunteering to teach students (class 9,10,11,12) in government schools. These schools are identified on the basis of parameters on being higher secondary schools, poor student-teacher ratio, and lack of subject specialist teachers. Under this project opportunity for volunteerism will be given for students from Indian Institute of Management, Ranchi, BIT Mesra and XISS Ranchi. Their involvement with school teaching staff and students would bring freshness to the teaching environment and would also bring out innovation in teacher-learner interaction methods.

Student's Gain:

- Extra learning hours and focus on the subject.
- Improved Communication skills – interaction with an individual from the outer periphery of their circle community.
- Volunteer could be role model for the students
- Student can see these volunteers as their mentor for not only on their studies but also to different areas such as career, way of living their lives, exposure to the outer environment etc.

Volunteer's Gain:

- Work Experience and learning with the government.
- Knowledge of processes of working environment of government.
- Certificate of Appreciation and participation in the program with the district administration which would be helpful in their future career opportunities.
- Experience of social work contribution towards society.
- Mental and work satisfaction for their work.

District Administration Gain:

- Improvement in education quality of students in the targeted schools.
- Improvement in communication skills of the students.
- Increase in students prospective of their career opportunities of the students.

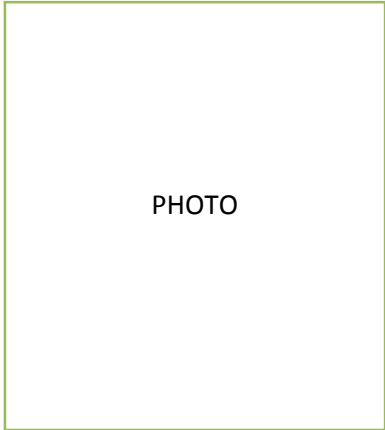

Khunti district has a vision to have their students secure future towards good life with proper education, informed choices of opportunities for their employment and livelihood.
